OVERVIEW/BACKGROUND

Downtown Partnership of Baltimore works with public and private stakeholders to increase the safety presence in the Central Business District, helping to make all of neighbors, visitors, and employees feel safe and welcome. DPOB's safety efforts are paid for out of our Downtown Management Authority budget. Additionally, DPOB was awarded 1.5 million dollars in the State's FY23 budget to support expanded safety services.

- DPOB has been exploring the possibility of armed security for many months, following recommendations and tactics from similar cities and even other neighborhoods within Baltimore City.
- Real crime and the perception of crime are a problem for Downtown neighborhoods, and all of Baltimore deserves a safer City.
- Armed security guards are now being used on all DPOB deployments and areas of focus, not just gateways.
- Our goal here is to seek solutions to systemic issues that cause crime through partnerships with non-profits, health agencies, BPD, and the Mayor's Office. In the meantime, we spend extensive efforts, nearly one third of the DMA's annual budget on safety and hospitality.
- There has been an uptick in reports of armed assailants and crimes involving weapons. Security experts believe that the effectiveness of patrolling areas is increased when their guards are armed.
